Lifeguards Reunite

They kept the beachgoers safe. The long days on the sand forged a gritty fraternity among the Pensacola Beach lifeguards and beach service guys who watched the waves in the 1960s. A small contingent gathered on Pensacola Beach for a reunion weekend. At the Beach Lifeguard Reunion Breakfast hosted by Chris and Becky Shearman in Villa Sabine are (L to R): Gerry Vinson, who traveled from Colorado; Dr. Bobby Barry of Panama, Roger Hoke from Key Largo, Pensacola Beach Residents Freddy Falgout and Chris Shearman, and Jerry Blount from Pensacola. (Also at the Reunion, Dan Stone and Fred Renfroe, who were not available at picture time.) Turn to page 2 for more.
