

PATRICK JERRELL PADGETT
“Jerry”
September 27, 1942 – August 10, 2002

Patrick Jerrel Padgett, 59, of Loango community, died Saturday, August 10, 2002, at his residence.

A funeral was held Monday, August 12 at 2 p.m. at First Presbyterian Church with Dr. Bruce Chapman and Rev. Bob Randall officiating. Burial followed in Vera Cruz Cemetery with Foreman Funeral Home directing.

Survivors include his wife, Shela Padgett of Loango community; two sons and daughter-in-law, Jimmy and Lydia Mott of Navarre, Florida, and Patrick Padgett of Tuscaloosa; his mother, Mrs. Roy Padgett of Pensacola, Florida; a brother, Rodney Padgett of Pace, Florida; and two sisters, Peggy Wooten of Pensacola and Debbie McDonald of Jacksonville, Florida.

Memorials may be made to LBW foundation at LBW Junior College or the Foundation for Tomorrow at First Presbyterian Church.

Pallbearers were Scooter Wooten, Tim Wooten, John Wooten, Tom Padgett, Roy Odom, and Trey Parnell.

PHS Editor's Note:

Loango is an unincorporated community in Covington County, Alabama. The local explanation of the town name says it comes from a combination of the words load-and-go. A post office operated under the name Loango from 1856 to 1907. The maternal great-great-grandparents of former President Bill Clinton are buried in the Old Loango Cemetery.

.