

SARAH JANE (WILLIAMS) MORGAN
January 16, 2019

My Grandma Sarah passed away this morning. She was one stubborn tough lady. She had been fighting an uphill battle over the past year and she finally is at peace and not hurting anymore. I'm so grateful we got to see her a few months back and she met Val and Penelope and they got to spend more time with her, not to mention having enjoyed getting to know her better over the past six years. Thank you, Claudette, for being there for her and us through everything. Not too many people can say they have friends as good as you were to her and you have definitely become family to me.

Jasmine Brooks, Sarah's granddaughter, taken from Jasmine's Facebook Page

